

Solar power station in China in Malta

Overview

The Delimara 3 (D3) power station, controlled and operated by China's Shanghai Electric Power (Malta) Holding Co., Ltd. (SEP), has played an important role in power supply in Malta, and emission reduction and air quality improvement in the areas around the power plant. Where is China's 3rd largest solar power plant located?

Located in Datong City, Shanxi Province, it is the country's 3rd largest solar power plant. China's National Energy Administration aimed to install solar plants in this area. After successful completion of the project's 1st phase in 2016, this solar plant now has a total capacity of 1.1 gigawatts.

How much solar energy does China use?

The system utilizes 18.63079 MW of polycrystalline silicon solar cell modules and 1.530144 MW of amorphous silicon thin-film modules. China is a solar energy hub that houses a number of the world's largest solar power plants.

Is China a solar energy hub?

China is a solar energy hub that houses a number of the world's largest solar power plants. Over the last few years, China, which is the top emitter of greenhouse gases (GHG), has increased its share of renewable electricity generation.

How big is China's solar plant?

China's National Energy Administration aimed to install solar plants in this area. After successful completion of the project's 1st phase in 2016, this solar plant now has a total capacity of 1.1 gigawatts. Once the next 2 phases of the project are completed.
