Overview

What is a containerized energy storage system?

A Containerized Energy-Storage System, or CESS, is an innovative energy storage solution packaged within a modular, transportable container. It serves as a rechargeable battery system capable of storing large amounts of energy generated from renewable sources like wind or solar power, as well as from the grid during low-demand periods.

Can I add more container units to my energy storage system?

Each container unit is a self-contained energy storage system, but they can be combined to increase capacity. This means that as your energy demands grow, you can incrementally expand your CESS by adding more container units, offering a scalable solution that grows with your needs.

What is a cess battery bank?

Subsequent to the charge controller is the battery bank where the energy is stored for future use. The type of batteries utilized can vary, but modern CESS often incorporate lithium-ion batteries, primarily due to their superior energy efficiency, long lifespan, and gradually decreasing Containerized energy storage system cost.
