

Which company should I choose to install solar panels

Overview

How do I choose a solar installer?

When choosing a solar installer, evaluate the company's credentials and specific offerings for your home. The best solar companies typically have at least five years of experience, strong manufacturer partnerships, and proper certifications, including North American Board of Certified Energy Practitioners (NABCEP) certification for installers.

Which solar company should I Choose?

Sometimes, bigger is not always better. It's easy to gravitate toward large name-brand companies like Tesla, Sunrun, ADT Solar, or SunPower. But it's small, local solar energy installers that are often the best choice. Local solar companies generally provide more personalized and attentive customer service.

How many companies can install solar panels?

You can only pick one company to install your solar panels. If you are between two companies that fit the bill, here are some things to think about. This one seems obvious, but it's not as simple as you might think. The lowest price is not always the best .

Do solar panel installers get reviews from real customers?

We host thousands of consumer reviews for solar panel installers across the U.S. and perform manual and automated checks to ensure you see reviews from real customers — not fake reviews made by companies or their competitors.
